BY

DR. ANIL KUNDHUR REDDY, USA, ALUMNUS OF CBIT , 1991 BATCH
AS PART OF THE ALUMNI THEME – “CBIT ALUMNI - THE KNOWLEDGE PARTNERS”

CBIT CAMPUS : ON THE 1ST FEB 2020.

Anil Kundhur Reddy graduated from CBIT in Electronics and Communication Engineering in 1991. Immediately, he went to the US for graduate studies, first to University of Southern California in Los Angeles and then for Ph.D. doctoral studies at Princeton University in New Jersey. His research field was nanotechnology, optoelectronics, organic optical materials, and novel semiconductors. After his education, he pursued a career in the semiconductor industry in the Silicon Valley, California.

Anil has been part of numerous startups such as Chip X, SwitchOn Networks, Paxonet Communications, NuChip Technologies, which were later acquired by multi-billion dollar companies like AT&T (Lucent), PMC, Sierra, Conexant, etc.

Anil believes there is more to life than work, and to live life to the fullest. He has various hobbies like sailing, scuba diving, marathon running, mountaineering. He has also traveled in over one hundred countries in five continents; he also travelled extensively in twenty five states of India. During his travels, he was touched by dire poverty and lack of basic infrastructure in many parts of rural areas, and is involved in work related to improving the conditions through poverty alleviation and influencing policy making. Anil is also a writer, hopes to publish his first work in next couple of years.

Anil lives in the San Francisco Bay Area with his wife and two college going kids. He visits India at least three times a year.
