- g) that any breach or threat of breach on your part of any one of such obligations and/or undertakings would cause serious harm to the Company or the Group which may then institute any legal recourse against you that is deemed appropriate and/or recourse in damages, without further notice or delay.

The Company may assign its rights and obligations herein in all circumstances without your consent, including in connection with any sale, transfer or disposition of all or substantially all of its business and operations and its assets, in which case the Company's rights and obligations shall vest to the successor.

APPENDIX C - SYSTEMS MONITORING ACTIVITIES AND CROSS-BORDER TRANSFERS, PERSONAL ACCOUNT DEALING POLICY, AND CODE OF CONDUCT

Appendix: Systems Monitoring Activities and Cross-Border Transfers:

The following provides a summary of how JPMorgan Chase & Co., its affiliates and its subsidiaries and the entity that employs you, or for which you provide services (collectively, “JPMC”), conducts Systems monitoring. JPMC may conduct monitoring to the extent permitted by applicable law.

JPMC conducts monitoring of JPMC’s physical facilities and its equipment and systems (collectively, the “Systems”). System monitoring applies to your JPMC equipment, your personal equipment when accessing the Systems, and the communications, information, and materials conveyed or accessed using the Systems. Monitoring activities may include the monitoring and logging of traffic and usage data of all electronic communications; monitoring of telephone calls to or from JPMC work telephones as permitted by applicable laws and subject to any required notices; monitoring of the contents of electronic communications, files, databases, applications, and internet usage; and logging hours worked and physical presence at JPMC’s facilities if applicable. JPMC may at all times monitor, access, retrieve, record and review information obtained from the monitoring activities for various purposes, such as preventing and investigating activities that may violate JPMC’s policies and ensuring compliance with legal or regulatory obligations. While conducting monitoring activities, JPMC may obtain and process personal information about you and others that may reside on the Systems.

The monitoring activities (including JPMC’s collection and processing of personal or other information) are required for purposes of your employment or work assignment to promote adherence to applicable policies and regulations. Subject to applicable laws and regulations, if you object to this processing, JPMC may prohibit you from using the Systems; terminate offers of employment or work assignment; and, for employees, take disciplinary action against you, up to and including termination of your employment with JPMC.

JPMC may disclose the information it obtains in connection with monitoring activities to JPMC affiliates and to third parties, service providers, regulators, supervisory bodies, law enforcement and other government agencies. Information obtained from the monitoring activities may be used as the basis to take disciplinary actions, up to and including termination or other legal action, for violations of JPMC's policies or applicable laws.

In addition to the monitoring activities discussed above, JPMC may obtain and store other information related to your employment or other working relationship, such as your compensation information, performance information, benefits information and other workplace-related data. JPMC may transfer such information, and the information it obtains in connection with monitoring activities, to countries other than the country in which the information originally was collected, including to the United States.

Understanding Obligations under the Firm's Personal Account Dealing Policy (PAD):

The Personal Account Dealing Policy (Policy) of JPMorgan Chase & Co. (firm or JPMC) is designed to help prevent and detect violations of securities laws and industry conduct standards and to minimize actual or perceived conflicts of interest that could arise due to personal investing activities.

PAD Compliance will notify you if the position you are being offered is considered to be subject to the Policy. You will remain subject for the duration of your time working in a subject group, unless notified otherwise of a change in subject status. Unless otherwise notified, you will continue to be subject to the provisions of the Policy even during leaves of absence from the firm, including, but not limited to, garden leave or medical leave.

You as well as your Connected Persons are subject to the provisions of this Policy and will need to be familiar with the obligations set forth in this policy. Connected Persons includes your spouse, domestic partner or minor children (even if financially independent) as well as anyone to whom you provide significant financial support or for which you, or anyone listed above, has or shares the power, directly or indirectly, to make investment decisions.

Once subject to the Policy, you must disclose and certify your Covered Accounts (which include accounts of your Connected Persons). You will be required to maintain your self-directed Covered Accounts with one of the firm's Approved Brokers and preclear all purchases, sales, pledges and gifts (received and given) of publicly traded and privately held financial instruments, unless listed as specifically exempt. Pre-approval confirmations must be received prior to executing the trade or investment. The firm may impose periodic restrictions on personal trading in certain financial securities. These restrictions can apply to all firm subject Workforce Members and their Connected Persons or may be limited to certain groups. Subject Workforce Members and their Connected Persons are not permitted to recommend or transact in the financial instruments of an issuer while in the possession of material non-public information (MNPI) regarding that issuer.

If you are a seasonal or short term employee the following requirements will apply:

JPMorgan Chase requires that seasonal workers refrain from trading in Covered Accounts for the time period that you are employed in a short term training program. Please verify that you will comply with the following personal trading requirements:

1. For the duration of the short term program I am joining I will not trade in any of my Covered Accounts
2. I understand that the Firm has the right to request account information for any of my Covered Accounts
3. If there is an extenuating circumstance that would compel me to place a trade in my Covered Accounts, I will obtain pre-approval of the trade by the Personal Account Dealing Group and I would be responsible for supplying all confirmations and statements to the Personal Account Dealing Group for that trade

*The term Covered Accounts refers to any securities accounts no matter where they are located and includes, but is not limited to, those accounts that are established, maintained or controlled (either directly or indirectly) by you, your spouse, domestic partner or minor children (even if financially independent), anyone to whom you provide significant financial support, and in which the employee has a direct or indirect financial interest.

Global Personal Trading Policy:

The Personal Account Dealing of JPMorgan Chase & Co. is designed to help prevent and detect violations of securities laws and industry conduct standards and to minimize actual or perceived conflicts of interest that could arise due to personal investing activities. This Policy includes requirements for disclosing Covered Accounts, maintaining certain accounts at one of the firm's Approved Brokers, preclearing trades, and restrictions and prohibitions on certain types of trading activity. This Policy is subject to any applicable local laws and rules and should be read in conjunction with Supplements (regional/LOB) as well as the firm's Code of Conduct.

Acceptance and Code Affirmation:

Upon signing this letter I accept the terms and conditions described above. I hereby affirm that I have read and understood the JPMorgan Chase Code of Conduct (the "Code of Conduct"). I agree, as a condition of my employment, to comply with the Code of Conduct, as amended and in effect from time to time.

I understand that I have access to the Code of Conduct either by clicking here or via the internet at <https://www.jpmorganchase.com> > About Us > Governance > Code of Conduct and Ethics prior to joining the firm, and through the firm's intranet once I begin employment.

I acknowledge that:

- The Code of Conduct requires that certain outside activities be approved in writing after I begin employment, and I agree that, if any such required approval is denied, I will cease the relevant activity immediately;
- The Code of Conduct imposes certain responsibilities that continue after my employment with JPMorgan Chase terminates, including but not limited to, the return of property, the protection of confidential information, and assisting with investigations or litigation related to my role at JPMC;
- The Code of Conduct also requires that I safeguard confidential information, including anything that I created while working for my previous employer(s); and I understand that I am not allowed to bring any of this with me to use at JPMorgan Chase or disclose any confidential information from a prior employer unless it has already been made public through no action of my own;
- My offer of employment is contingent upon a determination by JPMorgan Chase that neither the offer nor my employment would violate, or create the appearance of violating, the firm's Code of Conduct, Anti-Corruption Policy, or Human Resources policies and practices, or any applicable laws or regulations;
- I understand and agree that if I am an MD/SVP, ED or VP at the time of my termination I have certain additional responsibilities and restrictions that continue after my employment with the firm terminates, including a prohibition from soliciting or hiring JPMorgan Chase employees and soliciting customers; and
- It is my responsibility to be familiar with all of my post-employment obligations, and I agree to abide by those responsibilities after my employment terminates.

Independent Auditor Tax Services to Employees of JPMorgan Chase and its Affiliates:

To be in compliance with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB) Rule 3523, it is JPMorgan Chase's (JPMC) policy that PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) cannot provide any tax services to employees of JPMC or any of its controlled entities (hereafter referred to as JPMC employee). This restriction is regardless of whether the individual is in a financial reporting oversight role or not, and whether PwC is engaged by the individual or by JPMC. PwC is also prohibited from providing any tax services to a spouse of a JPMC employee if the work is related to a joint tax return. Exceptions to this policy will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis and will require the approval of the JPMC Controller.
