Short Term Training Program on "GenAI" Part of Value-Added Course

14-06-2026

to

20-06-2026

Objective

- To build tool-using AI agents from scratch by integrating large language models, prompting techniques, and developing memory-aware conversational agents that effectively manage context and long-term knowledge.
- Create production-grade Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) applications for accurate and context-rich information retrieval. Evaluate, secure, and deploy AI agents through testing, guardrails, API development.
- Learn how to optimize agent performance for real-world applications by improving efficiency, reliability, and scalability and develop a portfolio of practical Gen and Agentic.

Resource Persons: Working Professionals from Industry (IBM/Google) in association with EdSpark will deliver in online mode.

Note: Participants must attend in in-person in CBIT Campus.
